At the Editor's desk—

As this, the third issue of "Numisma" goes to press, the junior member of the New Netherlands team is looking forward to a mid-summer trip which will terminate at the Cleveland Convention. There, a senior member and he will be an honor to make new acquaintances and to greet old customers and friends.

The July issue of "Numismo" reached our subscribers almost a week before several thousand non-subscribers received it. While we continue to send out sample copies, the names for these will be constantly changed, so that you can hardly bank on a "free" copy a month. Better send us that $2, for a year's subscription.

Both the July and August copies of the "Numismatist" display our "Ten you have—" list of wants. After looking this inside front cover over carefully, you might remember that we pay generous commissions to those referring us to hoards or collections.

This month we continue "extra hot" for Colonial rarities and Lottery tickets. We'll gladly make an offer on any white elephant from "Willow Tree Sixpence to a CONFEDERATIO Cent. Outside of "Washington Conol" and "Louisiana State" Lottery tickets, we have been paying some very fancy prices for single items and even lots. Get 'em in, before our customer cools off.

We also need a Lovett C.S.A. Cent in Copper-Nickel, and can offer a generous cash price or make a nice trade. Speaking of Confederate items, why not sell or locate for us, a good size representation of Confederate Paper Money. . . . We'll pay in either Yankee money, Proofs, or Commemoratives.

Bring something interesting to our table in Cleveland. . . .

THE QUESTION FORUM

We invite our readers to submit any questions or problems relating to U. S. Early American or Canadian Coins, Medals, Tokens, Literature, etc., including Patterns, Restrikes and similar material. The questions of most general interest will be answered in detail here; others will receive written replies on receipt of a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Ques. Why does the 1954 Standard Catalogue list the 1864 half-dime in Unc. without comment, while the 1953 edition listed it as Proof only? How many were made in Unc.? W. C., Mobile, Ala.

Ans. When the 1953 edition was prepared, we knew of no specimens other than proofs or impaired proofs. Since that time, we have seen two brilliant unc. ones, both showing extensive injuries to the dies, and neither with any trace of proof surface. This necessitated listing in Unc. in the 1954 Standard Catalogue. The figure of $400 is extremely conservative, inasmuch as we have heard of no more than these two examples. There is no Mint or Archives record of a business strikes of half-dimes in 1864 for circulation, all 470 reported being proofs, and we are inclined to think that these unc. examples from the badly injured dies were made at the end of the year and reported in 1865. Research is now going on to determine how many of the 13,000 unc. half-dimes of 1865 were or could have been dated 1864, and the publication of this figure will announce a hitherto unknown major rarity of United States coinage.

Ques. The 1954 Standard Catalogue laconically states "2 varieties for the dimes of 1800 to 1803 inclusive. Your recent catalogue seem to display other opinions. Who is right, what are the varieties? Early Dime varieties, and are any of them rare?" C. R., Fullerton, Cal.

Ans. Walter Breen, of our staff, is preparing a monograph on the varieties of the U.S. dimes of 1796-1837. Part I, 1796-1807, is nearly finished, and the following data are from it. There are 10 varieties of 1796, the commonest being that with the lumpy diebreak at first star, the two rarest having respectively rim break at STA and obverse cracked across from R through curls and drapery to edge right of 6. There are both rare and common varieties with either four or five berries. The 1797-98 varieties are all listed in the Standard Catalogue; it should only be mentioned that both varieties of 1798 have small 8, and that the great rarity with perfect date and small 8 has a reverse very similar to that of the extremely rare 1798 13-star-reverse variety. Of 1800 there are two varieties, small and large A's (latter rare); of 1801, two varieties, first with five berries, this die being the rusted second reverse of 1800, second (very rare) with seven "berries", the extra two berries probably rust pits in the die. The first variety of 1802 is the so-called "Needle Beak", long prong of eagle's beak about three times as long as the upper one, and extending well beyond the star that it pierces. The other variety lacking this feature, has ES in STATES close, and is rarer. Of 1803 there are really three varieties, relatively minor and of uncertain relative rarity except for the unique one with the second reverse of 1802. The 1804-5 coins are described in the Standard Catalogue. There is only one variety of 1807, but a late stage of the injured dies will look different because most of the stars and legend are obliterated even on Unc. examples. There is only one variety of 1809 and one of 1810, the latter with the shattered 1809 reverse. There are five varieties of 1814, first only (rare) with small date, two commonest with large date, period after C, last (final S over space between S and U on score) extremely rare, this reverse being again used in 1820. Of 1820 there are at least ten varieties, two with oldstyle letters in legend as in 1814, the others with modern letters. One of the rarest of the latter has a very small c in 10 c. The "modern letters" varieties can be identified by strong vertical serifs to letters as in 1821-27. Of 1821 there are three small date varieties (two rare) and five large date varieties, mostly very minor. Of 1822, 23 Large E's, 23 Small E's, 24, 28 Large Date, 28 Small Date, 29 Large 10 C., 29 Medium 10 C., there are only single varieties. Seven varieties of 1825 and at least thirteen of 1827 are known. Three to seven varieties each of 1829 Small 10 C., 1830 to 1837 Bust Left are known, but the varieties are now very minor and it has not yet been possible to determine accurately the rarity of most of them.

Ques. Does the 1847 over 46 half-dollar really exist, and if so, what does the overdate look like? T. P. W., Oshkosh, Wis.

Ans. This is a coin very rarely seen and likely to be passed up at first sight. The accompanying cut will clearly explain why. It is listed as Beistle 1-A, 1-Ao, and the very few seen have all been in top condition. Proof impressions were not taken from these dies, the reverse being badly shottered.

Ques. If the Gobrecht Dollars are patterns, as you say in the Standard Catalogue, then why does the 1836 with name on base appear so heavily worn? M. Z., Evanston, Ill.

Ans. The Gobrecht Dollars dated 1836 weigh 412½ grains each, and were coined in December 1836. Coinage for circulation of dollars, half-dollars, quarters, etc., in weights proportional to this figure was not authorized until passage of the Mint Act of January 18, 1837. Therefore, the 1836 Gobrechts cannot be other than patterns, as no authority existed for their issue. It is thought that many of the 1600 patterns were thrown into circulation after the passage of that bill, and that one of the principal reasons was the same one that caused the melting of the seven known 1841 quarter-eagles (all struck as proofs) and the eventually spent. In short, they represented too much frozen Ques. The mint records say there were coined 7380 quarter-eagles and 8350 half-eagles at New Orleans in 1841, 1200 quarter-eagles and 1200 half-eagles in San Francisco in 1858, and in general that a lot of coins of various dates and mints were struck that are not mentioned in the Standard Catalogue or Guidebook. Why? J. S., Bangor, Me.

Ans. The very earliest instances of this sort of thing, such as 1802 dollars, 1801 half-eagles, 1803 quarter-eagles, 1797 quarter-dollars, undoubtedly represent coins struck from the preceding year's dies. There is documentary evidence in the Archives to prove that happened with the 1841-O and 1858-S quarter eagles. No quarter-eagle dies were sent to New Orleans between May 1840 (dated 1840) and Dec. 23, 1841 (dated 1842); the 7380 coins dated in August 1841 therefore must have been dated 1840. They were coined before February 1841, as the 1840 dies were all defaced that month; and they may well have been struck during 1840, delayed in delivery. As for the 1858-S coins, these were all made in January 1858, but the first quarter-eagle dies dated 1858 were not sent to San Francisco on March 4, so the coins were dated 1857. The omission of the 1841-O half-eagle represents an oversight in the Standard Catalogue, as Col. Green owned a specimen of this date. The single 1841 obverse die was sent to New Orleans Dec. 21, 1840. The coiner delivered 6300 half-eagles in January 1841, and 2000 in February. The 1840 dies were not defaced until Feb. 27, 1841, so it is entirely possible that these 8300 specimens were dated 1840. However, by the same reasoning it is certain that the 50 half-eagles coined and delivered in August 1841 were dated 1841. The 1873-S dollars and half-dollars without arrows (700 and 200 respectively coined) are known to have been dated 1873, but authentic specimens have yet been located.
